Dear Friends

During the past 12 years the Community Foundation of Greene County (CFG) has grown to encompass 65 endowed and pass thru funds totaling more than three million dollars. These funds do amazing things in our community to support Greene County programs and people — from arts, education, health and economic development to scholarships for students from pre-school to college!

This work isn’t just the work of CFGC. It is the work of you who have provided the gifts and contributions that create these funds. It is the work of you who conduct the programs, activities and scholarships that are supported by grants from these funds. We at CFGC are so appreciative of your support — and this report is to celebrate your work and our community.

Many of you are familiar with our grant programs — either our summer and fall discretionary grants that support local nonprofit programs, or the Educational Improvement Tax Credit (EITC) grants that support scholarships for children attending pre-school or private K-12 schools, and innovative curriculum projects for public schools. We also provide annual grants to charitable nonprofit organizations, programs and college scholarships which donors have chosen to support through permanent endowed funds. These grants are made possible by individuals, businesses and corporations who contribute to the foundation. In 2012, we awarded more than $297,000 in grants and scholarships.

Others of you are familiar with our work with community nonprofits to build leadership and capacity in addressing local needs. The Community Builders Nonprofit Leadership Development program, along with the Greene County Food Security Partnership, the Summer Food Program and the new Weekend Food Program for children each help to address community needs by building nonprofit capacity and partnerships.

The board of directors of CFGC believes strongly in our name — COMMUNITY Foundation of Greene County. Our focus is on the word “community” in our name. We are part of the community of Greene County. We exist to work with the families and organizations of Greene County. We hope that you see this in our work throughout the coming years as well.

All of these activities and more are in this report of our activities for 2012. I hope you will take a few minutes to look through the report and see how you and others make a difference in our community. Will it inspire you to leave a legacy — for good, for Greene, for ever?

Sincerely yours,
Nancy I. Davis, Ed.D.

About the Community Foundation of Greene County

The concept of the community foundation was initiated by Frederick Goff in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1914. Part of his intent was to establish an agency in which people of relatively modest means could engage in large-scale philanthropy by pooling their contributions.

Today, there are nearly 900 community foundations in the United States – 36 in Pennsylvania. These nonprofit foundations are public charities created by and for the people. They serve their communities by supporting other public charities and offering a variety of services to help make charitable giving simple, cost-effective and tax beneficial.

In December 2000, the Community Foundation of Greene County was founded on these very same principles. In partnership with donors, nonprofit organizations and members of the community, the CFGC's primary goal is to strengthen and enrich the lives of Greene County residents through education and philanthropy.

The Foundation puts into action the values of local people by pooling donor funds and making grants for specific and sound purposes to benefit the community. Grant opportunities include charitable and nonprofit organizations, educational institutions and student scholarship funds.

Consider Creating a Charitable Fund

The staff of the CFGC makes it easy to create a new charitable fund. We do all of the paperwork and the procedure can often be completed in just one meeting.

If you decide to create a new fund within the CFGC, we recommend that you consider the following steps:

- Determine your charitable purpose or intent.
- Discuss your charitable ideas and goals with your family, friends, and financial advisor.
- Discuss how you hope to achieve your charitable goals, along with the size and type of gift best suited to your resources.
- Select the type of charitable fund that best supports your purpose. Our staff will outline your options and discuss advantages of each.
- Work with CFGC staff to help complete a governing document.
- Name your fund. A new fund may be created in your name, the name of a family member, or the name of a favorite cause. The fund may be named to create a lasting memorial to a loved one. If you wish, as the donor, you could choose to remain anonymous.
- Depending on the type of fund established, you may choose to designate current fund advisors (perhaps you and/or your spouse) as well as a successor advisor (perhaps your spouse or children). This information will be included in your governing document.
- Contribute an establishing gift.

- Receive a tax deduction at the time the fund is established and when additional contributions are made to the fund. Enjoy giving through your fund. Once your fund is established you can:
  - Add to the fund at any time in any dollar amount.
  - Specify how grant disbursements are to be acknowledged – whether in the name of the fund or anonymously.
  - If you’ve established a donor-advised fund, you may recommend distributions to specific charities.

William & Shirley Hanley Memorial Scholarship Fund

When Dorothy Hanley started the William and Shirley Hanley Memorial Scholarship in 2011 in memory of her parents she recalled how her father was an advocate of higher education and encouraged her and her brothers and sisters to go to college.

“I watched how my parents sacrificed to provide for their family and I knew that an education would give me the opportunity to succeed in the world,” Hanley said. “Paying for my education was the struggle - I was able to cover the tuition each year, but I always struggled when it came to paying for my books and supplies. This is the reason why I want the scholarship to go towards books first and then student loans.”

In many ways, the scholarship is as much a legacy for Dorothy's nieces and nephews as it is for her parents. “My parents passed away before many of their grandchildren got to know them,” noted Hanley. “My hope is that this scholarship will forever be a link between my parents and their grandchildren. When I am too old to participate in this fund, the responsibility will be passed along to my nieces and nephews. They will always have a connection to their grandparents and they will forever have a connection to Greene County.”

The Community Foundation of Greene County Helps You Invest for a Better Future

Since its founding in 2000 by Greene County residents, the Community Foundation of Greene County has become the focal point within the county for mobilizing and assisting individual donors, nonprofit groups and organizations to create funds that support today’s needs and that promote long-term investment in the community. As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit charitable corporation, the Community Foundation currently manages nearly $4 million in assets, including 65 permanent and restricted funds.

Funds are professionally managed and integrated into grantmaking programs that address current and emerging needs in areas such as arts and culture, economic development, education, the environment, health, human services, recreation, and religion. Through careful investing, the impact of gifts received is multiplied, and resources are extended to help future generations. Most importantly, the funds provide support to benefit local non-profit organizations, schools, and students in Greene County.

One of the most rewarding benefits of giving through the Community Foundation is the opportunity to establish a fund in your name, or in that of a loved one, and witness firsthand the good your donation can do for others. A permanent endowment will invest money and distribute earnings to support designated organizations, scholarships, or discretionary grants. The foundation supports several types of funds:

- Unrestricted Funds meet some of the County’s greatest emerging needs.

- Field-of-Interest Funds address needs such as education or the environment.

- Designated Funds direct gifts to a specific agency such as the Humane Society or to a specific purpose.

- Advised Funds provide donors flexibility to recommend the use of funds annually.

- Scholarships provide individuals of all ages with opportunities to further their education.

Anyone can establish a new fund, and anyone can support an existing fund. There is no minimum contribution required by the Community Foundation to start a new fund, or to contribute to an existing fund. However, if a donor wishes to establish a named fund in one of the categories listed above, this can be accomplished by contributing $5,000 over a five-year period, or $25,000 over 5 years for a scholarship fund.

To help donors have the greatest flexibility, which can be important for tax purposes, the Community Foundation of Greene County accepts a variety of gifts. Donors can contribute assets such as cash, stocks, property, insurance policies, retirement plan assets, etc.

The gifts can be made through an outright gift to the Foundation or as bequests or planned gifts. A bequest is a common form of planned giving. By including a charitable contribution in your will, you are able to make a gift that is simple, and in many cases, larger than you could make during your lifetime. The bequest can take the form of a specific item (such as a home) or a specific amount of money, or may serve as a “residual bequest,” where the remainder of a donor’s assets becomes a gift after all other specific bequests have been paid out.

To learn more about establishing a fund or contributing to an existing fund, and to help shape a better Greene County, contact the CFGC office at email cgcpg@comcast.net or (724) 627-1070. We are also available to speak with you or your organization about the Community Foundation.

The Greene County Food Security Partnership was organized in June 2011 after CFGC staff attended a meeting of the Southwestern Pennsylvania Food Security Partnership (an affiliate of the Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank). The regional group encouraged each county to establish their own locally led, and issue focused Partnership. Along with three other individuals representing Greene County organizations - Michelle Voithofer, Intermediate Unite 1 Homeless Children’s Initiative, Carolyn Capozza, Centerville Clinics Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), and Rosa Snyder-Boyd, Community Action Southwest Nutrition Services program - CFGC convened a local partnership to identify and address food needs and resources in Greene County. The Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank provided, and continues to provide, technical assistance for meetings and outreach activities.

Since June 2011, the Greene County Food Security Partnership has expanded from 4 to more than 60 partners who support the activities to end food insecurity in our area. The Partnership has identified priorities to increase access to food resources and increase outreach and engagement to address food insecurity. Current projects include the Greene County Summer Food Program, the Greene County Weekend Food Program for school children, and outreach to increase knowledge and access to public and private food resources. The work of the Greene County Partnership, which is focused on action and activities, has become a model for other county partnerships in the southwest region.

In 2012, CFGC received a grant from the Southwestern Pennsylvania Food Security Partnership on behalf of the Greene County Partnership. The grant provided funds to conduct outreach activities, including a Hunger Summit in November 2012, along with funds to expand the Summer Food Program and Weekend Food Program.

The Partnership meets the second Wednesday of each month at the Corner Cupboard Food Bank.
Greene County Summer Food Program

Summer Food Task Force
In early 2010, partnering with the Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank, CFGC convened a group of representatives from non-profit organizations, schools, businesses and local government to address the lack of opportunities for some children to continue receiving nutritional support during the summer months when there is no school lunch. For the previous ten years, no organization in Greene County participated in the US Department of Agriculture and Pennsylvania Department of Education Summer Food Service Program (SFP).

As a result of the outreach, local school districts offered to serve as sponsors for the SFP in Greene County. During the first year, the program provided meals to 12 sites, serving a total of 13,400 meals to 837 unduplicated children.

In 2012, Carmichaels Area School District and Central Greene School District provided meals to 13 sites, serving a total of 28,363 meals (lunches and snacks) to approximately 978 unduplicated children.

CFGC acts as a local fiscal sponsor to provide support through grants and marketing for the project. The Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank provides assistance through outreach staff and marketing resources.

Other local support was provided by the following:

---Financial and In-Kind Contributions:
Alpha Natural Resources
Southwestern Pennsylvania Food Security Partnership
Rotary Club of Waynesburg
Highmark (through the Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank)
Greater Pittsburgh Community Food Bank
Community Foundation of Greene County

The Greene County Weekend Food Program provides bags of non-perishable food items which are placed in a child's own backpack, or a backpack to be given to the child. The food pack is designed to be non-perishable, child-friendly packages that do not require the child to cook or use special equipment. Many packs also provide plastic utensils. Each pack includes food for 6 light meals for the weekend including items such as individual cereal packs, PopTarts, applesauce, fruit juice, peanut butter, crackers, pasta bowls, pudding, oatmeal bars, juice packs, etc. Shell stable milk and fresh fruit may also be added. The school district food service directors prepare the menus and order the food through the school's food vendor at a significantly reduced cost.

The Greene County Weekend Food Program began in two schools during the spring of 2012 through an initial grant made by Alpha Natural Resources. Springhill-Freeport Elementary School in West Greene School District began preparing food bags for 24 children while Carmichaels Elementary School in Carmichaels School District prepared packs for 12 children. The West Greene program expanded during the fall of 2012 to include Graysville Elementary School in West Greene School District.

Each weekend package of meals (2 breakfasts, 2 lunches, and 2 dinners) costs an average of five dollars to prepare using the school districts' purchasing power. For a full school year, approximately 39 weeks, the program costs about $195 per child.

The program is confidential in order to protect the child. Students are selected for participation through recommendations by a school nurse, social worker, guidance counselor, teachers and/or food service director. Parents receive a letter about the program and requesting permission for their child to participate. The keeper of the list of participating children varies by school - in some cases it is the food service director, in other schools it may be the principal or social worker, whichever works best for that school. While the food bags are packed by student and adult volunteers at the school or community center, no one who packs a bag knows who will receive the bag. The food is either distributed to the classroom teachers who place it in the child's own backpack while the students are out of the room, or discreetly given to the child in other venues.

In 2013 the program will expand to include elementary schools in Southeast Greene, and Central Greene school districts (one elementary school each)

CGFC acts as a fiscal sponsor for the program in order to receive grants and contributions for the program as needed.
